Our Vision and Pro-Life

In our Vision Statement for Holy Apostles parish, we speak about ourselves being “Unconditionally Pro-Life”. Considering that, I would like to share with you what some of the youth who I brought to Washington and the March for Life said about their experience:

What is the one thing you hope you will always remember?

“I hope I will always remember at the massive amount of people who came to the march to support the theme that all life matters and abortion is the wrong choice.”

“I hope I will remember how bad abortion is.”

“I hope I will always remember that abortion has a terrible effect on your mental health, your physical health, and on those around you.”

“I hope I will always remember to make the best decisions I can when thinking about having an abortion or getting pregnant.”

“I hope that I will remember that all lives matter, black or white. Nobody deserves to go through such suffering.” (Referring to the African-American Museum)

What is the most important thing you learned?

“The most important thing I learned was how abortion caused many women to have suicidal thoughts, anxiety, depression, etc. This taught me how damaging abortion is and how abortion affects people.”

“The most important thing I learned is that abortion is a sin. If there are two separate heartbeats, two separate fingerprints, and sometimes two different genders, then it is a human being. All life is a gift from God and killing another human being, even if it is a fetus, is a sin.”

“I learned that God forgives us, no matter what – we just have to confess our sins... Abortion is a sin because it is terminating a human life... Marching for Life educates us that all life deserves a chance to survive.”

“I was reminded of how terrible abortion is and the long-term effects women suffer.”

“Abortion was worse than I thought.”

What was the hardest thing for you? “The hardest thing for me was the things that the women said about their abortion.”

What was the most meaningful thing for you? “The most meaningful thing for me was how women who had had abortions overcame the shame, depression, and everything else, because they found the Lord.”
